Bluegrass Annual Discussions on Anthropology and Social Sciences, 2022

Lafferty Hall, University of Kentucky

Resilience

with Keynote Address from Dr. Geoffrey McCafferty

Organized by Ana Temkina and Marcus Rodriguez

To begin the 2022-2023 academic year with an upbeat start, we dedicate our first meeting to the topic of Resilience. For the last few years, Resilience has been what carried us through, gave us the strength to face the challenges of the world, but also reminded us about the importance of balance and taking it one step at a time. If you are a student, professor, or researcher in the field of anthropology, archaeology, history, classics, linguistics, sociology, geography, and other related fields where humans are central to the study, and you have found Resilience weaving through your scope of interests – we would be happy to see you at our conference!
